WEB-BASED SURVEYS

SOLICIT MEANINGFUL FEEDBACK WITH WEB-BASED SURVEYS

Building and managing web-based employee surveys with OpinionWare is a breeze and enables you to match the goals, needs and desires, of your employees with your business objectives. OpinionWare also allows you to get closer to your employees, without compromising their privacy and protection with its anonymous respondent option. Surveys can be sent via email using a link, or embedded into HTML, or plugged into your corporate intranet. You can view the results immediately and export the information for additional analysis so you can make tough decisions

Today, many employers still use multiple, disparate systems and communication vehicles—printed employee manuals, internal applications, home grown intranet sites and more—to keep the workforce informed and business operations functioning. As a result, employees waste time logging on and off of separate systems with different user name/password combinations or calling HR to track down the information and tools relevant to their roles within the organization.
